Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Wednesday 28 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy showers fading this evening. Further rain overnight in west.

This Evening and Tonight:
Heavy showers gradually dying away this evening then dry for a time with clear periods. Further cloud and rain will spread from the northwest in the early hours. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloudy start with some showery rain. Becoming mainly dry and somewhat brighter by the afternoon, perhaps some warm sunshine in the southeast. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Chance of a few showers on Friday then dry and bright with sunny spells over the weekend.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.